University of BRISTOL

Turning research into real-world Agritech innovations

The Enterprise Roadshow: AgriTech

Join us for an introduction to Ceres AgriTech, a programme designed to help academics translate cutting-edge research into impactful agritech innovations with funding of up to £150K available for eligible projects.

Ceres AgriTech delivers the LINCAM translational research funding programme, supporting academics seeking to move early-stage research toward commercialisation in the agritech sector.

Eligible research areas include:

- Engineering
- Chemistry
- Computer Science
- Plant Sciences
- Hydrology
- Robotics

Optional 1:1 sessions with Ceres AgriTech funders will be available after the seminar.

When

Wednesday, 11 February
12 - 1 pm.

Where

NSQI Seminar Room
BS8 1FD

What

Enterprise Roadshow presentation by Ceres AgriTech, followed by Q&A, networking lunch, and optional 1:1 sessions.

Please contact olivia.champion@bristol.ac.uk to book a 1:1 meeting

RSVP via TicketTailor